TIMELY TOPICS

ENGLAND VS. GERMANY

The news comes over the wires that Count Wolf Metternich, the German ambassador in London, has resigned his office, and that Count Von Bieberstein is to take his place. This, perhaps, is of little interest to some, except when it is remembered that sometimes a change in ambassadors means vital changes in the policy of governments. It is fervently hoped that this change will be the means of bringing about a better understanding between Great Britain and Germany. There is a prevailing feeling among the working classes of both countries that the huge expenditures of money upon navies and armaments have reached their limit. It must be remembered to-day that these two countries have been made wealthy and powerful not only by their men of brains, but by their men of brains and brawn as well. Hitherto the men of brawn have said to the men of brains "go," and they have gone, "do," and they have done it and they were bid. But since the men of brawn have cultivated brains for themselves, and can think just as well as their masters, they have been less willing to be led blindly, and for the part of the men of brains, this is a matter of which they should be proud.

Why should there not be peace and disarmament? Why should these enlightened christian nations ever be at each others throats? Why indeed.

A NOBLE REVENGE

Over twenty-five years ago General Gordon of Khartoum went into that desert country right on the fierce tribes of the desert with the pure desire of lifting those peoples up to his own high ideals. The fierce fanatics massacred him, in spite of the fact that he had quite a host of friendly natives around who had learned to love him.

About fifteen years ago the great Kitchener surmounted difficulties innumerable and built a railroad across the desert, then took up his dwelling in Khartoum itself and began to try what christian civilized rule could do. The desert has, comparatively speaking, since become a watered garden. The heathen hords have got down to work.

England built a college there in which she is educating the sons of the murderers of Gordon. And a few weeks ago witnessed the opening of a splendid cathedral for the worship of the great God who teaches love toward enemies. The Bishop of London preached in the grand edifice, and the whole occasion was felt to be a triumph for christianity, a triumph of christianity. England shines her brightest and best on such occasions as this. She conquers nations in order to give them a better freedom than they otherwise could have enjoyed.

LABOR PROBLEMS

Canada is in the unique position of having more work than laborers; and the British House of Commons has been discussing the cause or causes of labor unrest. Lord George, whose opinion is that of an expert, said: "The present unrest arose from a whole-some cause, namely the desire of the workers to improve their condition." "The wealth of the world," he said, "had greatly increased in the past century, and the workers felt that they were not getting their fair share of the increase." He said further that the immediate causes of the unrest were firstly, wages; secondly, that conditions of life were unworthy of the dignity of the workers' manhood, and thirdly, that the workers were not treated as if they were possessed of minds and souls of their own. We must acknowledge the truth of those statements, and hope the day will come when these wrongs will be adjusted.

WHEN FREIGHT IS A FREIGHT

The methods of charging for freightage in this country are beyond the comprehension of the ordinary man. Not long ago a certain person had occasion to send down east for an article he was unable to purchase in the west. It was valued at a dollar. The charge for conveyance to this place was a dollar and ten cents.

Another case. An order was sent to Calgary and the article about three inches square and weighing a few ounces, was sent by freight and it cost thirty cents.

This kind of thing is more than injustice, it is flagrant robbery. The day has got to come when this kind of thing shall end, and may it come soon.

FISHING LAWS

The fishing regulations in force at present may be of interest to many of our readers. Quotations from an act passed on the 12th of February, 1912, the following extracts with relation to fishing in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Section 20 of the act reads as follows, viz:

"No one shall fish for, catch or kill any pike (Jackfish), pickerel (Dore), perch or goldeyes from the 1st of April to the 15th of May inclusive, except in waters north of or intersected by the 54th parallel of north latitude between the eastern boundary of Saskatchewan and the 109th meridian, and in the 55th parallel of north latitude between the 109th meridian and the western boundary of Alberta."

Sec 31—Angling or trolling in waters frequented by trout, grayling or Rocky Mountain whitefish is prohibited, except under permit. Every British subject resident in the province for which it is issued shall be eligible for an angling and trolling permit. The annual fee for such permit shall be one dollar.

Sec 34 (c)—No one shall in one day, by angling or trolling, catch and retain more than twenty-five pike (Jackfish), pickerel (Dore) or of either of these species than will in the aggregate amount to more than twenty-five.

Sec 32 (a)—In waters in that portion of Alberta northward from the international boundary line to and including the Bow river and its tributaries, no one shall fish for, catch or kill any trout, grayling or Rocky Mountain whitefish from the 1st day of November in

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schnellie 'et on Monday for a couple of weeks' visit at Great Falls, Montana.

He are sorry to report the illness of Mr. Burn's two daughters. This is all the more unfortunate as the family have only just moved in from the States. We trust, however, they will soon be restored to their usual health.

Since last week's announcement, the Methodist ladies' aid has decided not to hold their social and concert on the 24th. They are arranging for a series of socials for the summer months to be held at various places. Further announcements later.

Quite a number of icebergs have been printed in the daily papers, supposed to have been the original bergs that struck the Titanic. It might be well to save some of these bergs till after the next provincial election, as they may be useful to many political aspirants.

Premier Sifton has added three new members to his cabinet. With the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. M. Wolfe, late minister for Cardston, will necessitate four bye-elections, which are to be held this month. No doubt this is intended as a "teaser" by Sifton. If he is able to win the four seats, we may expect a general election this year, but if they go "agin" the government, there'll be nothin' doin' till 1914.

Alberta and Flux

Declaring that Western Canada could in a few years be in a position to supply the United States with quite sufficient flax for the linen of that country as well as enough for home consumption, that it was quite possible that flax mills and warehouses would be as numerous in Western Canada in a few years as are the grain elevators at present, that every farmer in Western Canada could make $150 per year from two acres of flax cultivated in his spare time, that the eyes of the flax men of the world were on Western Canada as the probable source of much of their future supply, and that he would buy all the flax grown here as long as he could, said S. Klein of Brussels, Belgium, to a News-Telegram last Saturday.

Mr. Beisig has sold his farm to Mr. Brewster. He intends going up north soon.

A number from here attended the ball in High River last week and report a pleasant time.

Several carloads of cattle were loaded from here last week. Mr. Milligan is loading this week.

The village duds are busy these days with the building of the fire hall and fencing in the park.

Don't forget the celebration in Cayley on the 24th. Get your donkeys ready, boys.

Don't let the band drop, boys. No use to build castles if you don't build ladders to get up to them.

Miss Shier was visiting at the home of her brother at High River last Sunday.

A few lots in Cayley changed hands this week. Looks like somethin' doin'.

Rumor says all arrivals at the new jail are to be washed, and if they make a fuss about it they will be tossed.

Mr. Sexsmith has returned to Cayley with his outfit. He has got the seeding all done on his farm at Blackie.

The chemical fire engines were given another rigid test last week and they proved equal to the occasion. In general with our village duds the citizens feel that they have made no mistake in the purchase of these engines.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Latham desire to express their gratitude for the practical sympathy shown to them by their friends and neighbors during their recent sad bereavement, which helped them to bear their loss.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Latham desire to express their gratitude for the practical sympathy shown to them by their friends and neighbors during their recent sad bereavement, which helped them to bear their loss.

What to Do Right Now.

A few practical suggestions by W. J. Glass, the famous wheat grower of Macleod.

We all know that practically no fall plowing was done last year, therefore, our land has either to be plowed this spring, or just disc and drilled. The question arises, is it necessary to plow or will discing do?

I am a firm believer in plowing every year, except on new land which has only had one crop taken from it and is not well rotted. Land in this condition and clear (free from weeds) could be disc a couple of times and seeded with fairly good results, although, as a rule, one does not get as large a yield.

Immediately after plowing use the packer, the same day if possible; the sooner after plowing the better. This is to keep the land from drying out. If you haven't a packer use a float. If you haven't a float use a disc. A float is a simple affair made by bolting four, five, or six 2X10X14 or 16 planks together, letting the second lap the first, and so on until you get the required size.

Of course, if you find your float is not heavy enough, you can weight it down with stones—Oh! I forgot, not many farmers have stones on their land; well, old iron or anything with weight, will do.

Now, as to the cultivation needed after packing or floating before drilling, all depends on condition of the soil. If very lumpy, disc it. If not, the harrow will do. It should be cultivated until no lumps remain bigger than a hen's egg.

I would not in any case advise using any implement after seeding, that leaves the surface of the ground smooth, as this aids evaporation, and also leaves the land powdery on top, and the wind is likely to blow the soil.

As to the time of seeding, I believe from April 1st until the end of the first week in May it is safe to sow wheat. After that date I would sow oats or barley until the end of May. Land that I had not seeded by that time I would summer fallow. I prefer to sow my oats and barley the last week in April or the first week of May and be through seeding by May 15th.

Just a word about summer fallow. Do not leave your summer fallow too late, but plow in June. By leaving the weeds grow they take plant food and moisture from the soil.

Not Up on Slap.

"I'd like to get a room for the night," drawled the old man with the chin whiskers and yellow stained. "By Jinks, Burtens," whispered the clerk to the bellhop, "all of the rooms are filled, but we don't want to discourage the country paragonage, so we'll have to give him some kind of a walk."

But the old man overheard the remark and fired up instantly. "Yes, yes, don't be alarmed, fellows," he cried, "if I wanted to sleep in a stall I'd sleep at the very stable on the other corner,"—Chicago News.

A Reb For Teenage.

When Alfred Teenyson appeared in the Oxford Theatre to receive his D. C. degree, it is said that his disheveled hair and generally negligent state provoked the undergraduate into greeting him with the inquiry, "Did your mother or call you early, call you early, Alfred, dear?"

Discontented Unaid.

"I had a fortune. I would never part again. My brother took—My Jove, old man, I wish I had one I'd give it to you."

"The Great Unknowns."

For thirteen years the author of "Warrior" was unknown. Indeed the country spoke of him as "the great unknown." A pseudonym Sir Walter Scott often employed in writing. But on Feb. 23, 1827, Sir Walter gave a dinner party to which, among others, Lord Melbourne, the judicial magnate, who claimed to know his host's secret, was invited. Then when the toasts were being drunk Melbourne, with Scott's permission, got up and proposed the health of "the great unknown, Sir Walter Scott." The effect was magical, and the news spread through the country like wildfire. Indeed that dinner and the secret it disclosed was the most talked of event of the year.

The Best One Could Do.

"There is only one reason," he said, "why I have never asked you to be my wife."

"What is that?" she asked.

"I have always been half afraid you might refuse."

"Well," she whispered after a long pause, "I should think you'd be unwisely enough to want to find out whether your suspicion was well-founded or not."

Mrs. Schlanke—Well, where'd that bit of gossip come from? From the evening clerk.

Mrs. Schlanke—No, indeed; it came from my husband's white club on his 153.
